ARLINGTON, Va. – The Marines in the regiment being surged to protect federal buildings and personnel in Los Angeles are trained in crowd control, the commandant of the Marine Corps told Congress.

"All Marines are trained in crowd control, embassy reinforcement, etc., so this is part of their training, sir," said General Eric M. Smith, commandant of the Marine Corps, testifying June 10 on Capitol Hill before the Senate Armed Services Committee. "The standard Marine expeditionary unit – before they deploy – is trained, and this battalion is ready for that."

Smith was responding to questions from Sen. Richard Blumenthal, D-Connecticut, about the imminent deployment of Marines to Los Angeles in response to recent rioting from people protesting the enforcement actions of Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) personnel in the city.

The 700 Marines assigned to Los Angeles are from the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division, based at the Marine Air-Ground Combat Training Center at Twentynine Palms, California.

The Marines were activated on June 9 by U.S. Northern Command.

"The activation of the Marines is intended to provide Task Force 51 with adequate numbers of forces to provide continuous coverage of the area in support of the lead federal agency," NORTHCOM said in a June 9 release. "Task Force 51 is U.S. Army North's Contingency Command Post, which provides a rapidly deployable capability to partner with civil authorities and DoD entities in response to a Homeland Defense and Homeland Security Operations. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. Scott M. Sherman."

Task Force 51, which includes up to 2,100 personnel from the California National Guard, is has been trained "in de-escalation, crowd control, and standing rules for the use of force," the NORTHCOM release said.

"They are there at the SECDEF's [Secretary of Defense's] direction to NORTHCOM [U.S. Northern Command]," Smith of the Marines in response to a question from Sen. Mike Rounds, R-South Dakota. "It's one of our most ready battalions. They're prepared to respond to lawful orders from the chain of command. They're there to protect federal property and federal officers."

Blumenthal asked about the equipment the Marines would have in Los Angeles and if the Marines would have arrest authority.

"Sir, they have shields and batons," Smith said. "They need not have arrest authority. They are there to protect federal property and federal personnel."

When Blumenthal expressed concern for the reputation of the Marines thrust into a civil disturbance, Smith replied, "I am not concerned. I have great faith in my Marines and their junior leaders and their more senior leaders to execute the lawful tasks that they are given."
